Writing

All of these words have a letter missing. Can you help Mister Seahorse fill in the correct letter using Fred talk?

1. t-n
2. p-g
3. c-t
4. s-n

Mister Seahorse is trying hard with his home schooling. You and Mister Seahorse now need to write a sentence with your words in. Have a go Rabbits!

Name _____

Making 10

$4 + \square = 10$

●	●	●	●

$2 + \square = 10$

$3 + \square = 10$

$8 + \square = 10$

$5 + \square = 10$

This was:

Use the number line to help you
add these three numbers.

1. $2 + 4 + 1 =$

2. $3 + 2 + 4 =$

3. $5 + 3 + 3 =$

4. $3 + 6 + 5 =$

5. $7 + 2 + 4 =$

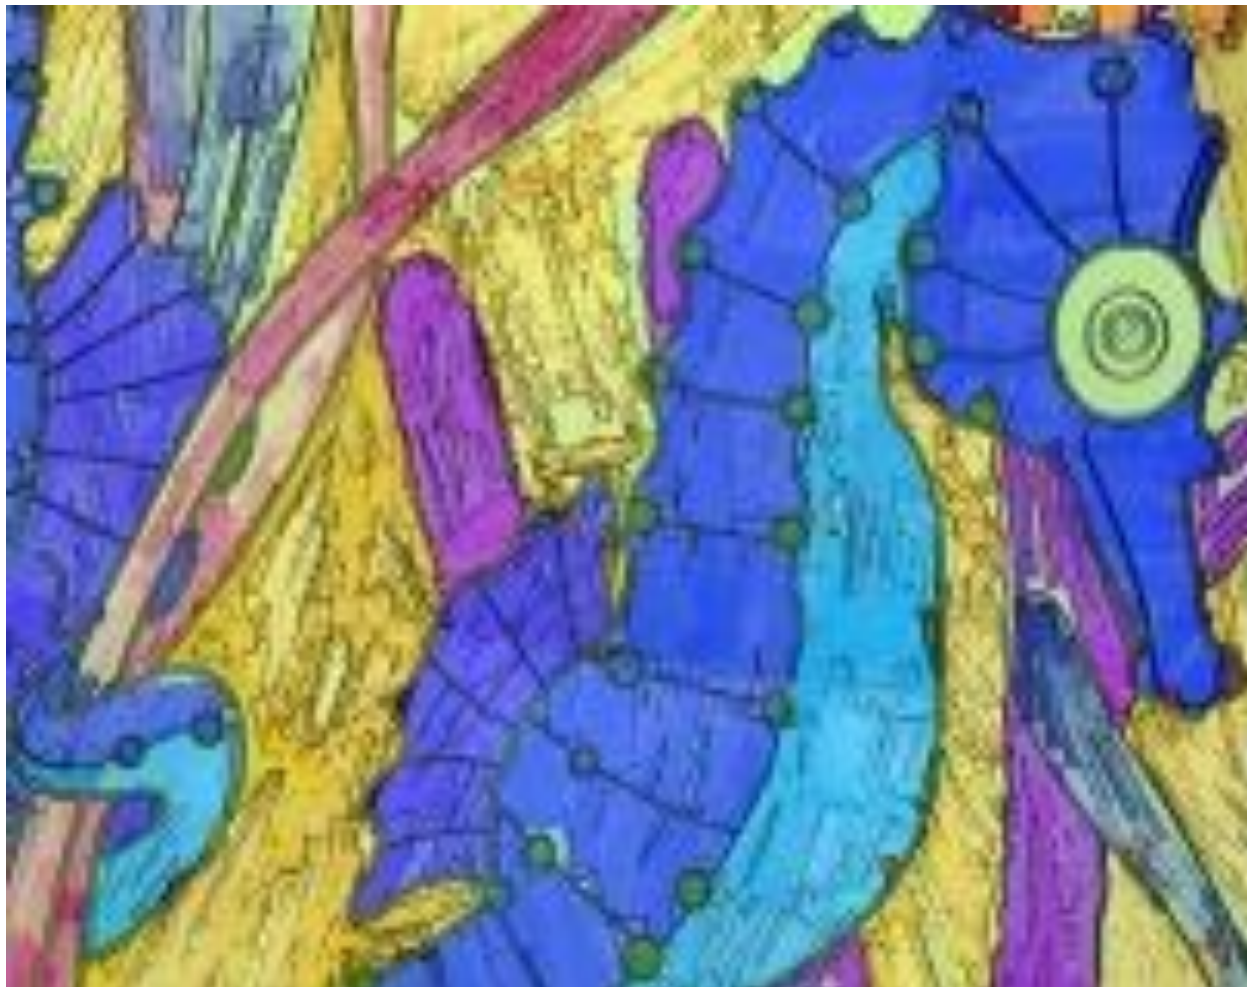

We have been practising our counting and counting on. Let's try counting backwards from 10 to 0. Then try to count backwards from 20. Can you count forwards and backwards even further? Mister Seahorse has hatched 150 babies today and so he has to count them all at bedtime tonight.

Perhaps you can try to help him?

On YouTube using this link, you can watch seahorses in the sea using their fins to swim. How many seahorses can you see?

Activity 1

I am a Seahorse

This is a seahorse. It lives at the bottom of the ocean. Seahorses eat plankton and small crabs in the sea.

They breathe using gills. A seahorse swims using small fins and mostly rests by holding to corals and seaweed.

Seahorses live around the world. Male seahorse gives birth to baby seahorses. Baby seahorses look like a smaller version of their parents.

You can pretend you are a seahorse gliding through the reef, dodging the coral and keeping watching for predators. You are shimmering and so very proud of your beautiful colours. Your head is held high and your tail swishes past the rocks.

Have fun!
